

Continue Your Partnership

With just one gift you can continue your partnership with the Wycliffe missionaries whom you support now ... and beyond your lifetime.

Through a Missionary Partnership Plan (MPP) with the Wycliffe Foundation, you can set up an agreement that allows you to provide regular ongoing support. It is simple to do and only takes a single gift of cash, appreciated assets, bequest through your estate or beneficiary designation from an account or life insurance policy.

How It Works

Wycliffe Foundation can help you create a plan that allows you to continue your financial partnership with missionaries serving with a Wycliffe organization. One way to do this is through a Missionary Partnership Plan (MPP).

Through this irrevocable agreement, you can provide monthly funding to your designated missionary with a gift of $5,000 or more in cash, appreciated securities or other assets. Your contributions are eligible for current-year tax deductions.

The assets go into an interest-bearing account, and your financial partnership continues as long as the missionary has a financial relationship with Wycliffe or until funds are exhausted.

You can set up an MPP to begin immediately or, if funded through a bequest, to begin and continue after your lifetime. If the missionary leaves Wycliffe before funds are exhausted, the rest will be used where needed most.

One of our skilled gift planning advisors will be happy to help you set up an MPP for your designated missionary.

A Plan for Partnership

Throughout his lifetime, Wycliffe Foundation donor Paul Gavitt has developed an unwavering devotion to God's Word. "The Bible has impacted my life moment by moment for many years," he shared. Paul has committed a number of Scriptures to memory and actively uses them, especially when faced with life's troubles.

Paul also attends church services regularly and has since his childhood. It was there that he discovered the work of Wycliffe through two missionaries who visited his home church.

"When I heard the missionaries' presentation, I knew that God wanted me to become involved with Wycliffe's work," he said. "I discerned that God wants me to help people around the world receive His Word in a language they clearly understand. If I didn't have access to God's Word, I'd want others to help me receive it."

Paul supports several missionaries and does so through a Missionary Partnership Plan (MPP) with Wycliffe Foundation. "The MPP makes missionary support simple," he said. "I send one check per year and designate the individuals and ministries that I want to support within Wycliffe."

Paul funds his MPP using his qualified retirement plan. "Because I give through my retirement account, the funds I give qualify toward the account's required minimum distribution (RMD) for the year," he explained. "And by gifting the funds directly to charity, the money isn't taxed and there's even more to give! The MPP is a wonderful giving tool with no drawbacks."
